1.0 Introduction

The African Rainbow is an exceptional Hotel in an exceptional location. Located in the thriving heart of Busua, an enigmatic village steeped in history and culture, it has organically grown from unassuming fishing village into Ghana's primary surf hub and the prime destination for the country's chilled youth. This transformation coalesced whilst retaining the essential elements of its unique character. It is home to most of Ghana's major surfers and boasts the country's original and still existing surf shop n school, The Black Star Surf Shop, originally run in 2016 by 2 former fishermen and a hippy surfer who never went home.....essentially featured in the seminal 60's Surf flick "The Endless Summer"

Whilst the surf community placed Busua on the culturally cool map the village has organically grown to become a diverse and inclusive haven for those seeking a more relaxed beach vibe, ranging from the eclectic and numerous boho beach bars and restaurants to the discretely genteel charms of the Busua Beach Resort, the go to destination for discerning pensioners seeking elegant twilight time by the sea.

CAPTION

2. Site

Though there was no mains electricity or water until the late 90's, post 2nd World War Busua was the seaside resort for urbane, wealthy folk from adjacent Takoradi and Sekondi. Offering a sparse yet authentic experience the village's dusty streets were littered with impromptu, enigmatic stalls and shambolic shops until Comfort McLaren and family arrived in the late 90's for a long holiday..... and ended up staying for 30 years! After deciding to reside within a few months of arrival, Comfort and co. built the elegant 12 room hotel with her Canadian born husband Peter and newly qualified Architect son Akwasi. Utilising local only labour and shipping materials including water by hand, the eccentric , eclectic production team built within a year, launching in 2003.

The serene, sumptuous landscaping, verdant gardens, inspirational planting, all curated and maintained personally by Comfort, are humbly reminiscent of the classical renaissance Italianate villa, personified by the Villa D' Este and Tivoli gardens on the outskirts of Rome.

Located a stones throw from the essential elements of both Busua beach and village life, the Hotel is perfectly placed to engage vitally with both, whilst retaining its aura of calm repose..... a country home from city home

Generous rooms offer panoramic south sea views from spacious balconies and a sunny terrace .

3. Proposal

Our proposal is to retain the essential elements of this exceptional Hotel's romantic decay. Rooms will be retained as is and upgraded with a series of carefully curated interventions, treading a fine line between comfort, utility and elegance. The public spaces will be retained, refined and upscaled as befits contemporary habitation, recalling the Hotel's gloriously glamorous iteration as the Cote D' Azure of Ghana's Western Region, hosting wild parties and funky live high life bands on the penthouse rooftop bar excellence .

Hedonism sits side by side with culture via an eclectic and inclusive program of film festivals and screenings on the rooftop bar hosted by Ghana's major film co-op's and edgy galleries. Restaurant/Bar/ & Rooftop Bar will also be available for private event hire

The exterior fabric will be refurbished and repaired as necessary with special attention paid to the rear yard where there are considerably dilapidated out buildings which will be repurposed as accommodation. Hard paving will be sandblasted and refurbished inc. exterior boundaries walls

The Gardens will be left intact as is, supplanted under the direction of Comfort. New lighting will highlight and accentuate exterior spaces to create a magical exterior room.

New planting and landscape to the rear yard with comprehensive herb and vegetable gardens to supply the new kitchen.

11.0 Conclusion

The renaissance of African Rainbow is driven by the coalescence of the above elements to create a symbiotic and cohesive offer for guests. That said, we believe one element is essential to create a spontaneous and fertile marketing presence - the restaurant. In keeping with the Italianate character of this handsome Hotel we believe a unique restaurant offer should combine the simplicity and bold tastes of classic Italian cooking with the spice and flavours of new Ghanaian cuisine, utilising the comprehensive range of deep sea catch from Busua's fishing fleet of marlin, swordfish, shark, and mixing Busua's 60's high-life hey day with the vision inclusive vision of the family Maclaren..... an eclectic meal on the elegant garden terrace followed by dancing the night away on the rooftop bar to funky High-Life and a backdrop of rolling Atlantic surf...an African Rainbow!
